

ABSTRACT

A server hosting system including a server cluster and a plurality of dispatchers, the plurality of dispatchers providing multiple points of entry into the server cluster. The server cluster and plurality of dispatchers are interconnected by a network, such as a system area network. Each of the dispatchers maintains a local dispatch table, and the local dispatch tables of the plurality of dispatchers, respectively, share data over the network.